

Derwent School for Boys,
Allenton School for Boys and Southgate School for Boys (formerly Brighton Road School)
Teachers - early 1950s

These three photographs are from an album in the Chaddesden Historical Group collection that is believed to have been kept by Mr A H Padley, headmaster of Derwent School.

The first photo has appeared before on our web site, but is now reproduced with identification of the teachers.

The following two photographs appear for the first time and are believed to show staff from Allenton School where Mr Padley taught in the late 1940s and Southgate School where he taught in the early 1950s before becoming headmaster at Derwent.

Mr Padley is seated in the middle of the front row in each case.
Is anybody able to identify the other teachers, please.

Believed to be Allenton School teachers.

Believed to be Southgate School teachers, taken outdoors while there was snow on the ground!
